

Short description of subject	History of veterinary and deontology course covers 1 semester and 15 didactic hours. Frontal lectures (15 h per semester) are in weekly intervals during whole 2 nd semester 1 h each and cover the veterinary history, rules and obligations of veterinary surgeon. There are no practical classes. The course aims to present students with information concerning veterinary history, its development and achievements from Antiquity until today as well as instilling passion and pride for their future profession. Students also obtain essential information on professional ethics as well as rights and obligations of veterinary surgeon in contemporary professional and social life. Learning outcomes – gained skills and competencies: Ability to employ knowledge of history and achievements of veterinary medicine, familiarity with professional ethics as well as rights and obligations concerning practice of the veterinary surgeon profession, professional conduct according to principles of ethics and obligations of veterinary surgeon in the future. Detailed description of topics is available in Syllabuses
Necessary requirements for practicals	none
Location	Lectures are in Lecture hall B – Collegium Veterinarium and Museum of Veterinary Medicine, Agriculture and open-air museum in Ciechanowiec. Rev. Krzysztof Kluk Museum of Agriculture in Ciechanowiec presents many aspects of rural life in eastern Poland. Within its structure Veterinary Medicine Department with exhibition presenting history of veterinary medicine in Poland exists and, among others displays a wide range of veterinary implements. (photos of Artur Warchala included).
Person responsible and Dept	Krzysztof Lutnicki Innowacyjne Centrum Patologii I Terapii, Głęboka Str 30, room 221  krzysztof.lutnicki@up.lublin.pl            Chair and Clinic of Animal Internal Medicine , Faculty of Veterinary Medicine
Schedule	The following issues are included in the lectures: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The aim of veterinary history and ethic teaching on veterinary faculty, concept and tasks of veterinary medicine; veterinary sciences as a part of biological sciences with special emphasis on their connections with life sciences.</li> <li>2. History of animal's treatment and control of diseases on the world.</li> </ol>

	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>3. The history and development of veterinary law and administration</li> <li>4. Development of veterinary education with special emphasis on the history of veterinary education in Poland.</li> <li>5. Basic principles of professional ethics and deontology; scientific and professional veterinary organizations in Poland</li> <li>6. Veterinary literature; biographies of outstanding representatives of veterinary profession and sciences.</li> <li>7. Veterinary faculty in Lublin –history and authorities.</li> <li>8. Museum of veterinary medicine in Ciechanowiec</li> <li>9. History of veterinary technics and instruments.</li> <li>10. Veterinary medicine in mythology and antiquity</li> <li>11. Rustically veterinary in ancient Poland</li> <li>12. Veterinary symbols and distinctions; Centaur Chiron as a symbol, activities of veterinarians outside veterinary profession.</li> <li>13. History of animal healing in Poland.</li> <li>14. Military veterinary</li> <li>15. colloquium (test)</li> </ol>
Didactic materials	Bernard E. Rollin: An introduction to Veterinary Medical Ethics, Willey-Blacwell 2006

